Crime

Reward for info still offered 17 years after Kelowna man disappeared

Brittany Webster
Black Press Media

Crime Stoppers Central Okanagan continues to offer a reward for anyone who can aid in finding Aaron Derbyshire who went missing in downtown Kelowna 17 years ago.

The man was just 22 years old when he went missing on Sept. 30, 2006. He was last seen just before 2 a.m. inside the now-closed Level Nite Club on Leon Avenue.

Crime Stoppers renewed its request for information on Facebook.

The post says Derbyshire stayed inside the club when his friends went outside to watch a fight at 1:40 a.m. Derbyshire has not been seen since. Derbyshire was wearing blue jeans and a dark blue buttoned shirt, possibly with a plaid pattern. He was five-foot-11 and weighed 160 pounds, had blue eyes and had curly brown hair at the time of his disappearance.

Anyone with information about the disappearance of Derbyshire is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 or leave a tip on their website. Helpful information could earn someone up to a $2,000 cash reward.

Teenager struck while jaywalking

A two car collision occurred near Kelowna Christian School last Thursday. (Jordy Cunningham/Capital News)

The Kelowna RCMP have confirmed it was a teenager who was struck Thursday, Oct. 5, by a vehicle.

Around 12:15 p.m., the RCMP received calls about a pedestrian struck at the intersection of K.L.O. Road and Benvoulin Road.

The pedestrian, a 16-year-old high school student, was struck as he was jaywalking across Benvoulin with his friends.

The teenager was able to get up and walk to the sidewalk to rejoin his friends.

The vehicle's windshield suffered some damage but the driver remained on scene and was cooperative. While the teenager was shaken up, upon getting to the sidewalk his dad arrived at the scene and took him to Kelowna General Hospital, where he received stitches.

The RCMP says there will be no charges against the driver.

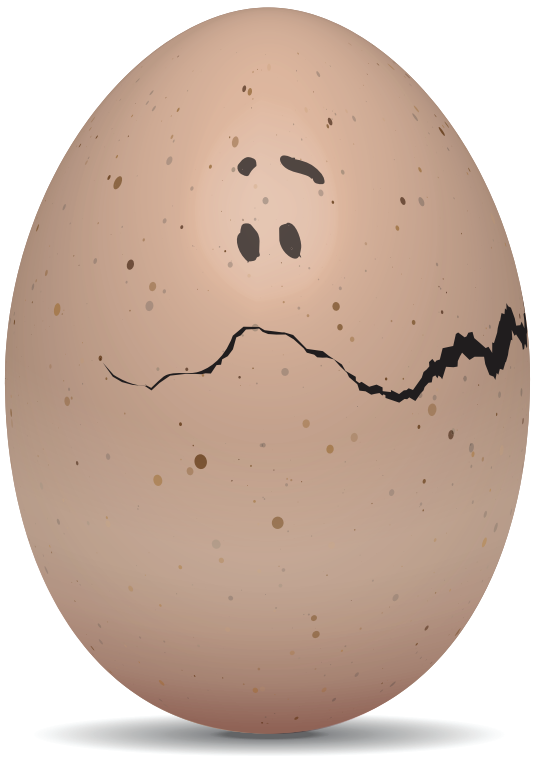

It's unknown if the student is from Kelowna Christian School aor Immaculata Regional High School, which are both in the area where the incident took place.

While traffic was backing up southbound on Benvoulin as the fire department attended the scene, a two-vehicle crash happened in front of the Kelowna Christian School.

Another fire truck and more RCMP officers attended that scene.

No one was injured in the crash, however, one vehicle had to be towed away.
